The next step is to compile a packet of information to support your nomination. Following are suggested documents and information that may be included in your nomination packet.

A. Organization of Information for Nominee:

1. Nomination letter – which is in addition to the initial nomination form submitted. Does it set the tone for the presentation of your nominee to the review committee?
2. The complete packet – Is the information included well thought out? Does the information present the nominee in the appropriate manner for the award?

B. Include testimonials as appropriate by:

- Library board and/or library director and/or immediate supervisor
- Staff, community leaders, patrons
- Past employees as appropriate
- Colleagues past and present – with current employer, from former employers
- Coalition and/or project partners

C. Professional activities and impact:

- Present and past as appropriate
- Benchmarks and accomplishments
- Resume/vita
- Authorship – professional and other
- Membership in professional and community organizations
- Nominee's impact on the profession
- PR from local and/or professional sources about the nominee and nominee's impact on projects, etc. noted

D. Specific to the Hall of Fame Librarian Award:

- Is the nominee an OLC member?
- Show examples of their professional contribution on the state or national level.
- Give examples of their sustained development of professional concerns, interests, fields of intellectual inquiry, or projects over the course of their career.
- Give examples of their leadership or modeling of change and progress in the field over time.
